

CLOSING REMARKS (5 minutes)

1. Mr/Ms President, you have heard the significant achievements so far that Solomon Islands has made. The government recognises that a lot is yet to be achieved and this will of course take time, resources and commitment.
2. With respect to sexual orientation and gender identity, the government maintains its position.
3. Having said that, the government would like to acknowledge all the speakers that participated in the dialogue.
4. We also take this time to acknowledge all our development partners, our Non-government organisations and the civil society we have worked together in this process. We value our networking and look forward to continuous work in the future.
5. Mr President, for questions that we have not been able to address, we will do so at the June plenary session.

Thank you, Mr President.
